

Parenthood Is a Sacred Duty

"Our Father in Heaven exemplifies the pattern we should follow. He loves us, teaches us, is patient with us, and entrusts us with our agency. ...Sometimes discipline, which means 'to teach,' is confused with criticism. Children—as well as people of all ages—improve behavior from love and encouragement more than from fault-finding."

~Susan W. Tanner

www.MyHappyTribe.com

Parenthood Is a Sacred Duty

"Our Father in Heaven exemplifies the pattern we should follow. He loves us, teaches us, is patient with us, and entrusts us with our agency. ...Sometimes discipline, which means 'to teach,' is confused with criticism. Children—as well as people of all ages—improve behavior from love and encouragement more than from fault-finding."

~Susan W. Tanner

www.MyHappyTribe.com

Parenthood Is a Sacred Duty

"Our Father in Heaven exemplifies the pattern we should follow. He loves us, teaches us, is patient with us, and entrusts us with our agency. ...Sometimes discipline, which means 'to teach,' is confused with criticism. Children—as well as people of all ages—improve behavior from love and encouragement more than from fault-finding."

~Susan W. Tanner

www.MyHappyTribe.com

